SPECIAL ELECTION HELD IN ST. LOUIS

Voters Voted Today On Ratification
Of New City Charter, Which Reduces Number of Elective Officers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 31.—Following one of the warmest political campaigns in the history of St. Louis the new city charter was put before the people for ratification at a special election today.
The most striking feature of the new charter was put before the people for the first time. It provides for a mayor with broad powers and individual responsibility for the acts of his whole administration and for a single legislative body. The twelve seven and eight thousand positions in the municipal service are to be placed under control of a civil ser-only elective officers. Many of the de-

NEW GERM APPEARS AT THE UNIVERSITY

Over Four Hundred Students Affected
By This Mysterious Disease
According to Reports.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 31.—Over 400 students at the University of Wisconsin are sick from what the bacteriological professors call "cold germ," something new in these parts. It is transmissible by "contamination and otherwise," according to Prof. W. D. Frost, department of bacteriology.

"There is more sickness in the university's history," said Prof. Frost to his class. "The new germ with which we seem to be infected is very contagious and you cannot be too careful about protecting yourself."

"Then as the fellows grumbled and the coeds looked forward, he continued: "It is not only by kissing that the new germ is caught. If a person has it and breathes in the neck of a girl sitting in the seat ahead of the street car, it is safe to say it has been transmitted."

"And if a breath laden with the germ strikes a girl's muff and she puts the muff to her face, then she has probably caught the bug—two or three of them, perhaps."

The bacteriological experts are now at the problem, and the bug seems doomed.

ORGANIZED A LEAGUE OF SUPERINTENDENTS

Superintendents of Various Janesville Industries Form Association in Meeting At Meyers Hotel.

Superintendents of the various manufacturing industries of the city gathered together at the Meyers hotel last night and took the initial steps towards perfecting an organization to be known as the Janesville Superintendents Association. The association has grown out of a long felt need for cooperation among the men in charge of the many plants in this city. It is hoped that in this way, many things of mutual benefit can be brought before the body and discussed, which will be not only of benefit to the concerns represented but also to the city of Janesville as well. One of the matters of mutual interest which it is expected will be brought up for consideration, is the subject of freight rates.

The association will hold meetings the last Monday in every month. The next meeting will be held at the office of the Janesville Machine Company, at which time M. Mulligan will give a talk on the steel and iron industry.
The members are also expected to make a trip through the above plant on this day, at three o'clock in the afternoon as the guests of the firm.
The organization is expected to be perfected by this time, the by-laws drawn up and plans for the year made.
Following is a list of the officers elected last night: J. C. Nichols, president; Carl Buchholz, vice-president; John Gollman, secretary; John Heinrich, treasurer.
Executive committee, M. Mulligan, chairman, R. Enright, O. Nott, A. A.

VAGRANT FROM MONTICELLO WAS NOT KANSAS CRIMINAL

Man Brought to Monroe by Sheriff
Yesterday Afternoon Was Guilty of Nothing More Than Vagrancy.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Jan. 31.—A vagrant giving his name as Crow was arrested at Monticello and brought here by Sheriff Matt Stauffer yesterday afternoon. He was suspected of being the party wanted in Kansas on charges of assault with intent to commit murder. The man wanted in the case was traced to Fremont and he there boarded the morning freight to Madison. Marshal Hunt of this city was notified by Stephenson county officials to be on the watchout for the man when the train arrived here, but the freight passed through here without stopping. At Monticello, Marshal Stauffer took a tramp in custody and brought him to this city, but he was not the man wanted. However, he answered to a charge of vagrancy before Justice M. E. Hiltner and was committed to jail.

The prisoner said he knew nothing about the charges and claimed that the party wanted must be another tourist he ran across at Orangeville but who did not continue his trip into Wisconsin.

BROOKLYN HOTEL ESCAPED DESTRUCTION IN FLAMES

Fire Was Discovered On Third Floor Of Northwestern Hotel But Was Soon Extinguished.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Brooklyn, Jan. 31.—Fire broke out in the Northwestern hotel here Monday afternoon about one o'clock. Mr.
Jackson, the proprietor of the hotel noticed the odor of smoke and upon investigation, found the rooms of the 3rd floor full of smoke. He phoned for the fire company and then with the aid of E. C. Philney and a few others, succeeded in locating the fire and getting things ready for the firemen.

Inside of five minutes after the alarm had been turned in about a hundred people were upon the grounds and the firemen were at work.
The fire proved to have originated in the chimney. This cracked the chimney where it ran through the upper rooms and started the fire. Through the quick work of the firemen there was not much loss. They had the fire under control in ten minutes and the fire was out and the firemen gone in thirty minutes after the alarm was sounded.

DRINKING FOUNTAIN GOES TO EVANSVILLE

Cut-off City Made Creditable Showing
In Sale of Christmas Seals—Training School Talk.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Jan. 30.—E. A. Schmalz has received information from Dr.
Dearth of the Wisconsin Antitubercular Association, that Evansville has been awarded the annual public drinking fountain, the prize offered for the first Congressional antitubercular contest. This honor is not a small one as the district includes Rock, Green, Racine, Kenosha, La Fayette and Walworth counties.

There were over twelve thousand stamps sold here, which is six and a fraction per capita, or over one dollar's worth in every house. The greater part of these stamps were sold by the physiology class of the high school and their strenuous work and the generosity of our people is most commendable.

The fountain will be shipped here in a few days and will be delivered to E. A. Schmalz who had charge of the sales in this city. It will undoubtedly be placed on Main St., but just where will not be decided until after the next meeting of the city council.

This is only one of the many instances when this city liberally responded for charitable reform and educational purposes no city in the county has had the record in this respect that Evansville has.

There can be no possible reason why the new training school should not be located here. The people are educationally inclined and always have been, and the moral atmosphere and cultured surroundings are calculated to form the proper characteristics of a college or school town. This is often remembered by prominent educators.

Lincoln's Birthday.
The Methodist people are planning for a Lincoln birthday banquet to be given in the parlors of their church on Tuesday evening, February 14. Tickets will be limited to one hundred and fifty, as the capacity of the dining room will accommodate only that number. The program for the evening has not been fully arranged, but it is known that Assistant U. S. Attorney General, formerly superior court judge of the Evansville public schools, will speak and the pastor, Rev. Chas. E. Conant will preside as toastmaster. Others who will respond will be Mrs. O. C. Conant, R. M. Richmond and Alexander Richardson. Miss Marjorie Wallace will render a solo,
Mrs. John Schellie and Mrs. Charles Hullard will sing a duet, and Miss Forn Hall will give a reading.

Arthur Y. Johnson.

Miss Annie Johnson received word
this morning that her father, Arthur
Y. Johnson died at his home, 6251
Greenwood Avenue, Chicago, Sunday evening. He was his forty-fourth year and tuberculosis was the cause of his death. Mr. Johnson was well known in this city, having lived here about eighteen years ago, when he was employed as a printer in the Revlon office. For several years he has lived in Chicago and of late he has been conducting a periodical store. His first wife was Miss Cornelia Kelly, a sister of Mrs. Charles Bartlett, of this city. She passed away a number of years ago and the husband was left with three little children, a daughter, Miss Annie Johnson, who since her mother's death has lived with her aunt, Mrs. Bartlett, and two sons, Earl of Chicago, and Arthur of St. Dakota. He was again married and had the widow and three children also leaves two sisters and three brothers. The remains will be taken to Waukegan, Wis., for burial.

a social manner. The society pre-tude of parents who present the recently successful flesh forming product, known as these grain hypodermic tablets, is related by a physician in one of the latest publiordinary human to learn the heart throbs of distress which seem to afflict so many young people who are apparently thin.

Also to know that the weight can be so readily increased by the use, regularly for

BANANA CREAM CAKE.

A delicious cake, one of the few that can pass muster with the dietitian, is banana cream cake. Whip fully ripe banana and spread on layers made with vegetable cooking oil, and on the banana layer spread whipped cream, making two or three layers. The same spread on toast is an acceptable invalid's food. The banana contains no acid and, unlike the apple and other pie fillers, is not incompatible with bread, and this cake is easily digested and nutritious.

Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Cathartic Cure is the only remedy acting

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

IN A SPEECH the other day, I heard the dean of a large college for women quote a verse from her autograph album, and a sudden sense of tender regret swept over me as I had heard reference to a dead friend.

Where are the autograph albums of yesterday? Well, that's not so hard to answer after all. They're stowed away in the big black trunk, packed between yellowing letters of dubious orthography but stately diction, and rambling diaries of the days when men were not too busy to live.

But where are the autograph albums of today?

That's harder to answer.

Are they entirely a missing quantity?

I am afraid so. When was the last time you were asked to write your name and an appropriate sentiment in some school girl's album, as you so frequently were asked in the "good old times"? Myself I cannot remember.

And I'm sorry. I think the autograph album is far too quaint and sweet a custom to let the vandal twentieth century deprive us of it.

An old school friend of my mother's visited us last fall. They were talking of school days and the question came up as to the maiden name of one of the girls.

"I know where to find it," said my mother.

So out of the big black trunk from between the yellowing letters and the rambling diaries, she fetched her autograph album. And by its spell we straightway had two laughing, chattering school girls instead of two white haired grandmothers in the house.

How they poured over the thick, white leaves with their gilt edges and their stately or sentimental messages.

This one bore the gentle admonition—

"Be a good sweet maid and let who will be clever,
Do noble things, not dream them all day long,
And thus make life and death and the vast forever
One grand sweet song."

Another gave the familiar advice—

"To think own self be true,
And it shall follow as the night the day,
That though not then be false to any man."

This heartbroken lament adorned another—

"To meet, to know, to love, and then to part,
Is the sad tale of many a school girl's heart."

My mother's guest found her own signature under this wish—

"May peace attend your future hours,
May love your pathway strewn with flowers,
And may you always have a friend
True as the one who these lines penned."

How they chattered and laughed and recalled this or that good time, and grow grave over the name of the girl for whom, as for sweet Alice, "they have fitted a shib of the granite so gray," and laughed, even while the tears stood in their eyes, at the sentimental

"The rose is red, the violet's blue,
Sugar is sweet and so are you,
Of some hopelessly smitten youth who has since married twice and had several children.

Isn't it rather a pity that our children should have no such treasure to fetch out of the black trunk from between yellowing letters and rambling diaries?

Why not try to revive the old custom by giving your little boy or girl an autograph album next birthday?

Why not at the same time bring out your own and stimulate their interest in the gift by showing it to them and telling them some stories of the days when their father and mother and some of the other grown-up folks they know were boys and girls?

The Katherine Kip Editorial.

YOUTH THROUGH HARD WORK.
Sarah Bernhardt at sixty-seven has been touring this country and astonishing everyone by the youthfulness of her appearance and the vigor of the characters she presents. Most of the roles she plays are those of young men and young women and the flourish of youth she sends over the footlights is remarkable.

In an interview not long ago she accounted for her fine physical condition and her powers to depict those youthful characters by the fact that she has always worked hard and has had no time to think about growing old.

And that is probably the secret of the beautiful sympathy of years so many women give in their old age. Julia Ward Howe remained extremely youthful almost to the last of her ninety odd years. Marlon (the blind) recently celebrated the eightieth anniversary of her birth in good health and splendid vigor, and there are any number of other notable instances of youth projected into old age.

Undoubtedly Miss Bernhardt's recipe is the real one. She says she has always worked hard and the world knows that. And she adds that she has always had a sustained purpose in life. To the work of being an actress she has given herself unreservedly, but she has also had vocations to divers her mind from the chance of becoming developed in only one direction. With all her busy life on the stage, she has had time to become proficient as an artist and sculptor. Then there have been other diversions like traveling for pure love of traveling. But always there has been her work—her sustained purpose in life—as an actress.

The woman who is disposed after thirty of thirty-five to sit and repine at the passing years; she who is disposed to think that it is not worth while to make effort along special lines; or who dies in cosmetics and hair dye at the appearance of the first wrinkles and gray hairs has only to remember the innumerable instances of women who have kept young and physically fit by doing something and thus kept a sustained interest in some one particular thing.

"Forty is the old age of youth, but it is the youth of age," some one has written. It is possible for a woman to be really ancient at thirty-five, but she isn't the woman who has an object in life. Cosmetics and dyes will not keep age away nor will they cover up its traces. All defeat of the appearance of age must come from within. The mind and the heart must be kept in sympathy with every good impulse.

The woman who adopts that code of life has no need of pitiful subtleties. Youth is with her and stays with her as long as she plays her part. Old age is the indication of decay, but nothing that has kept alive at the heart decays. It is only when the oak begins to die at the heart that it loses its appearance of youthful vigor.

Ways of Serving Chicken.

Chicken need not be an extravagant dish, as the bits of left-over meat may be worked into croquettes, salads, creamed chicken and numerous other dishes. The bones of the chicken need not be wasted, as they will make soup and broth.

Chicken a la Marengo.—This is said to be the dish that was served Napoleon after the battle of Marengo. Sling and clean a five-pound chicken, cut it up as for a fricassee. In a saucepan melt two tablespoonfuls of butter and add three tablespoonfuls of olive oil. When it is hot, add the white meat, with salt, pepper and a clove of garlic. Mix and cook over the heat until each piece is a golden brown. Have ready a tomato sauce made from a can of tomatoes, a little onion, parsley, carrot and celery which have been cooked until thick, then rub through a sieve, and a tablespoonful of butter added. To the chicken add a pound of fresh mushrooms which have been peeled and sautéed in a little butter for five minutes. Arrange the chicken on a platter and add to the gravy three tablespoonfuls of tomato puree; stir until it is hot. Pour over the chicken and serve.

Chicken Giblets on Toast.—Cook the giblets until tender over a slow fire, then chop fine; add the broth in which they were cooked, season with salt, pepper and a little onion, and a half cup of hot cream. Pour over buttered toast and serve.

Chicken Croquettes.—Roll a young chicken until tender, cut the meat into dice. Sauté in butter a half pound of fresh mushrooms, make a cream sauce, using the broth and equal quantity of cream in making the sauce; use three tablespoonfuls of butter and three of flour; cook together, then add a cup each of broth and thick cream.

Chicken cut up and baked in milk is a new dish to many. Cover the first hour of cooking and remove the cover to brown. Thicken the milk for a gravy and serve poured around the chicken.

THE SWEET POTATO.

The sweet potato differs from the Irish potato chiefly in containing less starch and more sugar. It is best cooked by baking at a low temperature. Either potato contains sufficient of all the elements of nutrition except albumen, which can be supplied by milk or eggs, either of which combine fairly well with the potato. For one doing heavy physical work whole wheat bread and milk and sweet potatoes with a scrambled egg and a glass of two of buttermilk, make an ample diet without meat, although potatoes are less economical than bread on account of the large percentage of water they contain.

SAVE YOUR HAIR
While You Have Hair To Save, Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Every woman who is obliged to wear false hair or man, a toupee, feels that it is a misfortune. What makes the burden so doubly hard to bear is the knowledge that the loss of natural hair could, in most instances, have been easily avoided.

The arch enemy of good hair is the dandruff germ. This now is a well established scientific fact. There is one remedy on the market which, used regularly, will kill the germ and keep out every trace of dandruff.

This remedy is Newbro's Herpicide, long known as the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer. By keeping the scalp clean Herpicide not only prevents the hair from falling out but allows it to grow as nature intended. Begin in time and its use persisted in, this valuable remedy insures a nice, healthy head of hair.

Herpicide imparts a life and lustre to dull, dead, brittle hair making it light, fluffy and beautiful.

Don't wait. Begin now to save your hair.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed in one dollar size bottles by all druggists.

THE SLAUGHTER OF GAME.

While the conservation of natural and all other resources is being freely discussed, and all sorts of measures are being adopted to preserve to the people the natural resources of the public domain, there is one field of opportunity which has been entirely neglected.

It is apparent to the most casual observer, that the nation's game preserve is rapidly being destroyed and unless radical measures are adopted, the time will soon come when many kinds of game will be extinct. The wild pigeon and many of the forest game birds are of the past, and the slaughter of waterfowl, increasing every year, means the speedy destruction of this class of game.

The various states have adopted all sorts of protective laws, prohibiting spring shooting, limiting the number of birds which may be killed in a day, and taking this kind of game out of the market, but still the slaughter goes on.

It became necessary, some years ago, to prohibit the use of the swivel gun, and for a decade following, the double barreled shotgun satisfied every demand of the sportsman, but today this gun is practically out of the market, being replaced by the pump and automatic guns which are nothing more or less than slaughtering machines. Here is a little story of the work of two of these machine guns, told by one of the men who helped in the slaughter and seemed proud of the achievement. The party was shooting from pits over wild geese decoys in Glenn county, California.

"We noticed in the distance a flock of geese coming. Our caller in a few seconds had their attention and they headed towards our decoys. Soon they were directly over us, but out of easy range of our guns. We were anxious to shoot, but in obedience to our boss had to keep still, and soon noticed that the birds were soaring around and in a short time were within 15 or 20 feet of us. At that moment we heard the command, 'Punch em,' and the bombardment that followed was beyond imagination. We had fired five shots apiece and found we had bagged 10 geese from this one flock.

"At the end of one hour's shooting we had 218 birds to our credit and were out of ammunition.

"On finding that no more shells were in our pits we took our dead geese to the camp and returned with a new supply of ammunition. We remained in the pits during the entire day. When the sun had gone behind the mountains we summed up our kill and it amounted to 450 geese."

The slaughter of ducks throughout the south and west is equally destructive. There was sold in the United States last year, 97,000 of these guns, and 200,000,000 shells. This gun was introduced by the Remington Arms Co. in 1905. It is nothing more or less than a small gatling gun used from the shoulder.

The belief was current, that the gun would never become popular with sportsmen, and that only put-hunters would use it, and they could be regulated by law, but the price is cheap, and today the gun is extensively used. As a result, game is being so rapidly exterminated that the situation has aroused the League of American Sportsmen and a strenuous effort is being made to have the following bill presented to all the state legislatures this winter.

"AN ACT TO PROHIBIT THE USE OF REPEATING SHOT GUNS IN HUNTING BIRDS."

"The people of the state of..... represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

"Section 1. It shall be unlawful to use, in hunting birds or animals of any kind, any shot gun holding more than two cartridges at one time, or that may be fired more than twice without reloading.

"Section 2. The intent and meaning of this bill is to prohibit the use of any so-called automatic or repeating shot gun or pump gun for the purpose of hunting wild birds or animals.

"Section 3. Any person found guilty of violation of this statute shall be fined not more than $50 nor less than $25 for each offense; and the carrying of any automatic or repeating shot gun in the woods or in the fields or on any of the waters of this state shall be considered prima facie evidence of an attempt to violate Section 1 of this statute, and shall be punished as provided in this section."

This work has the endorsement of many of the leading sportsmen throughout the country, and should be encouraged by every man who believes in the preservation of wild life.

FOREIGN SERVICE.
The bill introduced by Representative Lowden of Illinois providing for the application of civil service regulations to the diplomatic and consular services seems to have hit the mark aimed at for a considerable time by those who have been striving to bring these bureaus up to a higher standard of efficiency. The fact that the influence of the administration will be exerted in behalf of the measure indicates that Mr. Lowden consulted the higher officials of the government immediately interested in the proposed reform at every stage of the bill's preparation. Secretary Knox gives it pronounced endorsement. This means more clearly and completely covers the ground, he says, than any here before proposed. "So far as I am aware," he adds, "each previous bill failed on the single ground that it had the effect of seeking to curtail the constitutional power of the President to appoint ambassadors, ministers and consuls with the advice and consent of the senate."

Many well-intended measures dealing with other matters fall every season because in attempting to institute reforms they overlook the constitutional limitations.

The Lowden bill provides that the secretary of state shall from time to time report to the President, with recommendations, the names of secretaries in the diplomatic service and the names of consular officers and department employees who by reason of efficient service have demonstrated special fitness for advancement. It makes mandatory the holding annually of a series of impartial examinations and the reporting of the results to the secretary of state by a duly constituted board of examiners, and the keeping of careful records. The President will be left free to proceed according to his pleasure—and according to his right—in the matter of making appointments, but in making promotions he will have the advantage of guidance that is denied him now.

Viewed in any light, the enactment of the Lowden measure will mean a noticeable departure from the process now obtaining. The element of political influence has dominated appointments and promotions in the consular and diplomatic services for many years. The intent of Mr. Lowden's bill, manifestly, is to substitute for this the element of merit.

Evansville wins one of the eleven drinking fountain given by the Anti-Tuberculosis association, as a prize for the sale of the Christmas seals. Good for Evansville. When it comes to real work this Rock county city gets down to business quickly.

Were we to believe all that is sent out from Spain and France regarding the habits of the kings and rulers of southern Europe, they are a most depraved lot. However, if taken with a pinch of salt they do not leave such a bad taste after all.

With two candidates for city offices in the field it will not be long before the spring rush for office commences in real earnest. Then watch out for the wily politician and his promises and campaign cigars.

Portugal has appropriated a goodly sum for the maintenance of its ex-King Manuel. It is suggested that perhaps some lobbying was done by a few Parisian chorus girls to have it passed successfully.

The English parliament is still in the throes of disorganization and when the time comes for the final settlement there will be fun galore in the house of lords, according to report.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

By WALT MASON.

I longed for wild adventure. "My life's too flat," I said. My next door neighbor heard me, and kindly punched my head. My eyes are black and swollen, a lump is on my ADVENTURE brow. At first I felt resentful, but I'm not angry now. I'm sitting in the gloaming, a puddle on my face, and now I bless my neighbor, who punched with skill and grace. For I have lost the yearning for war and deadly strife, and I am quite contented to lead the simple life. We read of knights and barons who rode on prancing steeds, and resound warbling madmen, and did all kinds of deeds; we read about their jousting with rhinoceros, but not about the bee-stings upon their blackened eyes. We read of lion slayers who do heroic stunts, and all about the trophies they bring back from their hunts; but on the shining pages no gifted hunter writes about his wild adventures with ant and chigger bites. We read of brave gladiators and how he whipped a crowd; but when a mass of brutish, he wopt and groaned aloud, when busy Roman matrons put phasers on his neck, there was no poet ready to sing about the week. I'm cured of all my sighing for brave and knightly deeds; I'd rather sit in comfort and smoke my two-fer weed.

TREASURER'S OFFICE

BUSIEST IN CITY

Long Line of Anxious Tax Payers Ready To Pay Their Liabilities Today.

Yesterday's business at the city treasurer's office, in the payment of the city tax for the year, was but the opener for the real work of today. With his books at either hand, City Treasurer James J. O'Brien, seated at his desk, patiently answered the questions of the taxpayers who were lined up at the window, and had not time to pause from his labors of looking up the amounts due and making out receipts for the payments made. About the only change in the proceedings came when an urgent call came over the telephone. In front of his desk there was an almost continuous line of people all day, the place at the head of the line scarcely being vacated before another taxpayer appeared at the other end. The total number of tax payments to be made is about three thousand and three hundred, but all of them cannot be paid today and it is a matter of conjecture how many will be paid. A number will wait until after the first of February before settling with the city, choosing to pay the penalty charged.

County Treasurer A. M. Church is in receipt of a letter today from P. B. Denney of Green Bay, chairman of the Judiciary committee of the County Treasurer's association, urging his support of a bill before the present Legislature to amend the existing statute regarding the terms of county treasurers. The bill is No. 363, and was introduced by Assemblyman Mortenson. The object of the amendment is to allow treasurers of the counties to hold office for more than two terms, which is prohibited under the present statutes in Sec. 712. MAY SECURE BETTER RATE ADJUSTMENTS

Committee of the Industrial and Commercial Club Takes Matter Up With Railway Officials.

At the regular Monday meeting of the directors of the Industrial and Commercial club Monday noon, the question of securing a better rating for Janesville shippers on a commodity basis was the subject discussed. H. C. Cheney and Mr. Fisher, traveling freight adjusters, and Local Agent A. L. Henningson of the Chicago and Northwestern road, and A. A. Wilson and P. W. Zimmerman, local agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, were present and took up the matter. The new rating of the railroads, if carried into effect, will work a considerable hardship upon the local shippers. This has been postponed until March 15, to become effective, and it is hoped in the meantime that the local committee may secure some adjustment on car and part of car lots shipped to Milwaukee and Chicago at intermediate points. The railroad officials promised that the matter would be taken up by the rate departments of their respective roads and promised to aid all they could personally. The old rate was far better and more equitable than the new one which is to be put in operation shortly. The special committee of the local association will fight the matter through to the end.

FOURTH VICTORY FOR LOCAL BRIDGE TEAMS

Second Game of the Present Winter Won By Janesville By Decisive Score.

With the fourth straight victory to their credit, twice last winter and twice again the present season, the bridge whist players of the local Beloit club are most proud of their record. In the intercity tournaments between Beloit and Janesville. Last winter Mr. A. P. Burham organized a ten man bridge team called the "Regulars," from the players of the local lodge and invited ten similarly chosen men from Beloit to a match tournament at the local rooms. A. P. Burham's team won and took a second victory when they journeyed to Beloit. Meanwhile other players of the local lodge organized what was known as the "Insurgents" team and again triumphed the self styled regulars twice. The same was true in the Beloit lodge. This season the "Regulars" and "Insurgents" of both lodges have combined and two twenty two men teams played at Beloit recently and last night the Janesville team entertained their Beloit visitors at a most delicious dinner at the Myers Hotel at 5:45 and then trimmed them at the game of the evening later.

Janesville's total score last night was 9900 while Beloit made but 7302 as a total, leaving Janesville's margin 2598 points. The visitors won at five of the eleven tables played, and the locals took the honors at the other six. The games were played in the Elks lodge room, the eleven tables being set around the room. The two teams lined up the same as they did at Beloit, except that P. H. Jackman took Ed. Hasdill's place on the Janesville team.

With the visitors names first, Beloit won by the following scores at five tables from the Janesville players whose names follow: Eldred and Thompson defeated Valentino and Capelle, 1122 to 936; J. L. Hendley and Filfield, defeated Blodgett and King, 782 to 718; Murray and Lyons, defeated Welch and Stern, 924 to 278; Day and Bullock defeated Harris and Carle, 802 to 242; M. Heller and T. C. Hendley defeated Clark and Burham, 951 to 724.

At the six tables where Janesville won, the local team names appear first and the scores follow: Richardson and Magee won from Parker and Melndoe, 1214 to 438; Holmes and Jackman won from E. J. Heller and Van Wart, 1172 to 336; Francis and Kemmer won from Carov and Worthington, 858 to 304; Soullman and Heller won from Kelling and Gilman, 1410 to 406; Shippson and McCoy won from Holborn and Lipman, 1290 to 880; Van Kirk and Love won from Osborn and Welrick, 1658 to 294.

ANOTHER SERIOUS CASE FROM BELOIT

Carl Merklein, Beloit Youth Held in County Jail On $1,000 Bail For Serious Charge.

Facing a serious statutory charge, with a young Beloit girl as the complaining witness, Carl Merklein, a 20 year old youth of that city, was brought to the county jail last night, to be held under $1000 bond, until his preliminary hearing before Judge Rosa, tomorrow morning. Merklein accompanied the young lady to a dance near Manchester, Saturday night and the couple returned home in a single buggy early Sunday morning. While on the way back, the car neared the city of Beloit, the girl jumped from the rig and walking home, went to some friend's house on Grand street and appealed for aid. A warrant for the arrest of Merklein was taken out by the girl and he was brought before Judge Rosa yesterday morning.

This is the third case of this nature that has been brought before the Beloit authorities within the last two weeks. Thomas Burns of that place is now in the county jail awaiting trial for a similar offence. The preliminary hearing of Merklein is set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

NO RECEPTION FOR HIM--HE MADE ONE

Frank Russell, Chicago Travelling Man Thought He Owned Town and Set About To Make History.

For sheer nerve, Frank Russell of Chicago, arraigned in court this morning seems to have won the medal as far as police court matters are concerned. Russell, who back in the December last night, seemed to think the keys of the city had been handed to him on a silver tray and even continued in the same line of thought this morning after his commitment was held to allow him to go to Madison. Russell is a travelling salesman, selling adhesives. He started out last night and after various adventures about town, in one of which he requested the Chief of Police to call a taxicab to take him to a hotel, was finally ejected from the hostelry in which he had taken a room, for creating a disturbance by yelling and throwing his wares hither and thither. Even in the cell his excitement did not seem to abate and a doctor was called who quieted him with a hypodermic injection. This morning he was arraigned in municipal court on a drunkenness charge and frankly admitted his guilt. He asked, however, for leniency, stating that to take the money would "break" him and leave him without a chance of a job. He told of a shipment of adhesives at Madison awaiting him today. The judge

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Jan. 31 1871.—Jottings.—The Missouri Democrat says that the forerunner in the Gazette office is a woman. Whereupon John rises to explain, and denotes the soft impeachment. A look into the Court reveals the fact that freezing is among the best. So say strangers who have recently inspected it. Truly Mr. Lydson is a good man to leave such a job with. The remains of Lansing Church arrived in this city from St. Louis. He was about thirty-five years of age at the time of his death. Was father of Mrs. Potter Kimball. We regret to say that Mr. J. M. Kimball fell on the sidewalk near his office and dislocated his right shoulder. Gearborn thinks Mr. Kimball was wise in that a short time ago Mr. Kimball secured an accident policy of him. Some of the business men of the Cream City have conceived the idea of sending many of their poor bills to this city for collection. Many Janesville folks over the M. & W. Kansas, or else there is no money in the metropolis. Which? The teachers of the Congregational Sabbath School and a few friends are to meet this evening at their rooms in the church for the purpose of an annual reunion. Supper and an interchange of thought, that perennial fountain of thought, the right education of the youth is to be the order of the evening. A man sixty-six years old from the town of Janesville is seeking justice in the case where himself and his brother half do not agree. He thinks women have too many rights already. His wife is nineteen years younger than himself and eight children have appeared in that family. It is a pity that such is the case and that old folks must seek to be severed. The police is engaged as we go to press in trying two sisters for larceny. Gentle Daily is charged with appropriating sheets, pillow cases and laundry articles to her own use, having taken them from the Stevens home. Bertha Daily is charged with stealing a two dollar green-back from Martha Anderson.

TARIFF BOARD ACT PASSED BY HOUSE

Measure Urged by Taft Adopted 186 to 93.

ALL AMENDMENTS ARE LOST

Bitter Debate Marked Progress of Bill—Democrats Sought in Various Ways to Change It But Without Success.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The house passed the tariff bill, unamended, late last night by a vote of 186 to 93.

It became evident early that the bill which was advocated by President Taft would pass, but Democratic efforts to amend it delayed the final vote.

The session was enlivened by acrimonious debate, in which Champ Clark at one time clashed with Representative Payne, and in which President Taft was attacked by Representative Fitzgerald for his construction of the tariff law's provision for the appointment of a tariff board.

The bill creates a permanent tariff board in lieu of the present board, which is a creature of a provision of the sundry civil appropriation bill, and which will expire by its own limitation on June 30 next.

The proposed board is to consist of five members, not more than three of whom shall be of the same political party. The term of office shall be six years for each member, and those first appointed shall serve for terms of two, three, four, five and six years respectively. The president is also to designate one of the members to be chairman.

The salaries of the members are $7,500 annually for the chairman and $7,000 each for the other members.

The first amendment offered by the Democrats came from Representative James of Kentucky. It provided for the appointment of three members of the board by the president and the election of the two minority members by the majority party in the senate and house of representatives.

Mr. James said he did not think a Republican president was qualified to select the Democratic members of the bipartisan board.

Other Amendments Lost.

Mr. Barnhart of Indiana offered an amendment, allowing the president to appoint one member, the presiding officer of the senate two and the speaker two. The amendment was lost, 130 to 140.

Representative Cox of Indiana sought to have the appointments on the board made subject to confirmation by the senate. This also was lost.

The Democrats then sought to limit the expenditures of the board, first to $250,000 a year and then to $500,000 a year. Both propositions were lost.

Various other amendments offered by the Democrats were voted down.

AGED MAN BOUND TO DIE

Slashes Wrists and Throat With Razor, Then Plunges Into Bath-tub and Drowns Himself.

New York, Jan. 31.—Adam Miller, sixty-two years old, of Union Hill, N. J., committed suicide in an unusual manner. He slashed his wrists and throat with a razor, besides inflicting seven other wounds in vital parts of his body, and then dropped into a bathtub full of water. He was drowned when found by his thirteen-year-old granddaughter.

Shortly thereafter George W. Stefens, thirty-five years old, of Weehawken, an old friend of Miller's, upon hearing of the latter's death, went up to his apartment, attached one end of a gas tube to his mouth, and ended his own life.

DRISCOLL WINS IN SEVENTH

Spike Robson is Defeated in Fight for Featherweight Championship of England.

London, Jan. 31.—Jem Driscoll won from Spike Robson in the seventh round of their scheduled twenty-round fight for the featherweight championship of England at the National Sporting Club. A purse of $5,000 was hung up in addition to a side bet of $2,000 and a diamond belt presented by Lord Londond. The men entered the ring at 120 pounds.

ILLINOIS HORTICULTURAL INSTITUTE

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 31.—For ten days, commencing today, the agricultural building of the University of Illinois will be given up largely to the horticulturists and florists of the state, who have gathered here for their annual institute. The exhibits are elaborate. At the opening session this morning addresses were delivered by Dr. T. J. Burrill, Prof. J. W. Lloyd and Dr. C. F. Horner, and Dr. S. A. Forbes will speak on insects this evening.

"Tub" Pool Files Demurrer.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 31.—The defendants, sixteen firms and thirty-four individuals, in the so-called bathtub trust criminal cases filed a general demurrer in the federal court here. It was expected that the cases would come up for trial in March.

THREE DIE IN FLOODS

WOMAN AND CHILDREN DROWN IN RAPIDLY RISING WATERS.

Entire Ohio River Valley is Menaced by Heavy Rains—Damage Will Be Heavy.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 31.—The entire Ohio Valley is threatened by a flood of unusual height. Already a number of persons have been drowned and heavy damage caused, and the situation is considered exceedingly grave by river experts.

Three persons were drowned in Dirty creek, near Centerville, O. Mrs. John D. Rose, her son and granddaughter, Mary Gilliland, were on their way to the funeral of a relative when they were caught in the high water and all drowned. The bodies of Mrs. Rose and her granddaughter have been recovered, but that of the son is still missing.

All the creeks and rivers in that section are on a rampage as a result of the heavy rains of the last thirty-six hours.

Heavy rains for forty-eight hours and the generally high temperatures of the last week have caused the more important tributaries of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers to put out much more water than was anticipated.

In this city and vicinity every possible precaution is being taken to prevent damage, sewer gates being closed and pumps of high power being installed in large buildings to keep basements free when the flood is at its height.

TAX AUTOS OF PRESIDENT

Maryland Authorities Ask for Regular Registration Fee on Taft's Four Cars.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Because Charles D. Norton, secretary to President Taft, recently wrote to John E. George, Maryland's automobile commissioner, applying for licenses for Mr. Taft's motor cars, but failed to enclose a check to pay for the same, Mr. George replied that he would send the licenses as soon as he had the money.

The controller of the treasury recently decided that neither the District of Columbia nor the states could tax government automobiles, but the White House has been paying licenses in the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, over which the president rides.

DRY FARMING MEET OPENED

Hundreds of North Dakota Agriculturists Attend the Two Days' Congress at Dickinson.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 31.—With every prospect of being a great success, the North Dakota dry farming congress opened here today. The sessions will continue through tomorrow, and are being attended by hundreds of farmers from all parts of the state. The exhibits of agricultural products are quite extensive, and a number of prizes have been provided by the business men of Dickinson. The Dickinson experiment station also has a fine exhibit of grains and forage crop.

Numerous addresses are on the program, from which the farmers are expected to learn much of dry farming methods and results. Among the speakers are S. W. Ukenholz of Mandan, who speaks German, and Superintendent W. P. Snyder of the Hebron mining substation.

LABOR MEN ACCUSE A JUDGE

Denver, Col., Jan. 31.—The Colorado State Federation of Labor filed charges against Judge Greely W. Whitford, asking that he be impeached. The charges are in connection with the recent sentencing of a number of strikers to jail terms for contempt of court.

GIRL'S MIRACLE A FAILURE

McKeesport Restoration of Sight, After Fasting Eight Days, Widely Advertised, Does Not Occur.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 31.—Margaret Shipley, aged twenty-five, of McKeesport, who fasted eight days with the belief that she would then be given her sight, came out of her trance last night.

The young woman arose from her bed and walked unaided to a chair. She sat down, and, following the advice of religious followers, did not go to a window and look out. It had been stated by friends that when she looked out of the window her sight would be restored.

Newspaper men were in attendance and their unanimous verdict was to the effect that the expected miracle had failed.

FIVE SAVE LIVES BY LEAPS

Three Women, Two Men, Jump From Cake to Cake in Ice Flood to Safety.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 31.—Leaping from cake to cake of the floating ice floes in St. Mary's river, two men and three women reached shore safely after a thrilling experience.

The party was fishing in a shanty out on the river when a fifty-mile gale arose and a great mass of ice was released at the rapids and driven down stream with terrific force.

All around the fishing shanty the ice began to break and the five men and women started for the shore in a race for their lives.

Mrs. Jackson rose. "Well, I'm glad to 've had a word with you; but, you hear me, you're not to have doctor's help or she's a-goin' to fall down some day soon."

Every word the woman uttered, every tone of her drizzling voice, put Leo Virginia back into the past. She heard again the swift gallop of hoofs, saw once more the long line of armed ranchers and felt the hush of fear that lay over the little town on that fateful day. The situation became clearer in her mind. She recalled vividly the words of astonishment and hate with which the women had greeted her mother on the morning when the news came that Edward Wetherford was among the invading cattle barons—was indeed one of the leaders.

In Philadelphia the Rocky mountain status was synonymous of picturesque lawlessness, the theater of reckless romances, and Virginia Wetherford, loyal daughter of the west, had defended it, but in the coarse phrase of this lean ranchman was pictured a land of border warfare as ruthless as that which marked the Scotland of Rob Roy.

Commonplace as the little town looked at the moment, it had been the scene of many a desperate encounter, as the girl herself could testify, for she had seen more than one man killed there.

Then her mind came back to her mother's ailment. Eliza Wetherford had never been one to complain, and her groans meant real suffering.

Her mind resolved upon one thing. "She must see a doctor," she decided. And with this in mind she re-entered the cafe, where Lize was in violent altercation with a waitress.

"Mother," called Leo, "I want to see you."

With a parting volley of vituperation, Mrs. Wetherford followed her daughter back into the lodging house.

"Mother," the girl began, facing her, and speaking firmly, "you need help, and if the doctor here can't help you, you must go to Sulphur or to Kansas City. I can run the boarding house until you get back."

Eliza eyed her curiously. "Don't you go to counting on this 'clivinity of the west' which story writers put into books. These men out here will eat you up if you don't watch out. I wouldn't dare to leave you here alone. No; what I'll do is sell the place, if I can, and both of us get out."

"But you need a doctor this minute," "I'll be all right in a little while; I'm always the worst for an hour or two after I eat. This little squirt of a local doctor gave me some dope to ease that pain, but I've got my doubts—I don't want any morphine habit in mine. No, daughter Virginia, it's mighty white of you to offer, but you don't know what you're up against when you contract to step into my shoes."

"Violations of reforming methods about the house passed through the girl's mind. 'There must be something I can do. Why don't you have the doctor come down here?'"

"I might do that if I got any worse, but I hate to have you stay in the house another night. It's only it for these gents of cowboys and women like Hett Jackson. I don't care till somebody like you or Reddy or Ross comes along."

"No, child; you got ready and pull out on the Sulphur stage tomorrow. I'll pay your way back to Philadelphia."

"I can't leave you now, mother. Now that I know you're ill I'm going to stay and take care of you."

Lize rose. "See here, girl, don't you go to idealizing me neither. I'm what the boys call an old battleax. I've been through the whole war. I'm able to feed myself and pay your board besides. Just you find some decent boarding place in Sulphur, and I'll see that you have $10 a week to live on just because you're a Wetherford."

"But I'm your daughter!"

Again Lize fixed a musing look upon her. "I reckon if the truth was known your Aunt Sella was nigher to being your mother than I ever was. They always said you was all Wetherford, and I reckon they were right."

CHAPTER IV.

THE NEW WEST AND THE OLD.

THE knowledge that she must spend another night in the inn led Leo Virginia to active measures of reform. She hurried from her bed to the vestibule. She drew others into the vortex.

She organized the giggling waiters into a warring party and advanced upon the flies. By hissing and shouting and the flutter of newspapers they drove the enemy before them, and a carpenter was called in to mend screen doors and windows, thus preventing their return. New shades were hung to darken the room and new tablecloths purchased to replace the old ones, and the whole place had such a cleaning as it had not known before in five years.

In this work the time passed swiftly, and when Redfield and Cavanagh came again to lunch they exclaimed in astonishment, as, indeed, every one did. "How's this?" queried Cavanagh humorously. "Has the place changed hands?"

Lize was but grimly responsive. "Seems like it has."

"I hope the price has not gone up."

"Not yet."

Redfield asked, "Who's responsible for this—your new daughter?"

"You've hit it. She's started right in to polish us all up to city standards. She can run the whole place out if she's a mind to—even if I go broke for it. The work she's got out of them girls is a wonder."

Leo Virginia came in flushed and self-conscious, but for lighter of spirit than at breakfast, and stood beside the table while the waitress laid the dishes before her guests with elaborate assumption of grace and design. Hitherto she had bumped them down with a slash of angry comment. The change was quite as wonderful as the absence of the flies.

"Do we owe these happy reforms to you?" asked Cavanagh, admiring Virginia's neat dress and glowing cheeks.

"Partly," she answered. "I was desperate. I had to do something, so I took to ordering people around."

"I understand," he said. "Won't you sit at our table again?"

"Please do," said Redfield. "I want to talk with you."

She took a seat a little hesitatingly. "You see, I studied domestic science at school, and I've never had a chance to apply it before."

"Here's your opportunity," Redfield assured her. "My respect for the science of domesticity is growing. I marvel to think what another week will bring forth. I think I'll have to come down again just to observe the improvement in the place."

"It can't last," Lize interjected. "She'll catch the western habits. She'll sing, same as we all do."

"No, she won't," declared Ross, with intent to encourage her. "If you give her a free hand I predict she'll make your place the wonder and boast of the county side."

"When do you go back to the mountains?" Leo Virginia asked a little later.

"Immediately after my luncheon," he replied.

She experienced a pang of regret and could not help showing it a little. "Your talk helped me," she said. "I've decided to stay and be of use to my mother."

Redfield overheard this and turned toward her.

"I want Mrs. Redfield to know you. I'm sure her advice will be helpful. I hope you'll come up and see us if you decide to settle in Sulphur or if you don't."

"I should like to do so," she said, touched by the tone as well as by the words of his invitation.

"Redfield's house is one of the few completely civilized homes in the state," put in Cavanagh. "When I get so weary of cuss words and poaching and graft that I can't live without killing some one I go down to Elk Lodge and smoke and read the supervisor's London and Paris weeklies and recover my tone."

Redfield smiled. "When I get weakened or careless in the service and feel my self respect slipping away I go up to Ross' cabin and talk with a man who represents the impersonal, even handed justice of the federal law."

Cavanagh laughed. "There! Having handed each other reciprocal bouquets, we can now tell Miss Wetherford the truth. Each of us thinks very well of himself, and we're both believers in the new west."

"What do you mean by the new west?" asked the girl.

"Well, the work you've been doing here this morning is part of it," answered Redfield. "It's a kind of housecleaning. The old west was picturesque and in a way manly and forceful phases of it were heroic—and I hate to see it all pass, but some of us began to realize that it was not all poetry. The plain truth is my companions for over twenty years were lawless ruffians, and the cattle business was founded on selfishness and defended at the mouth of the pistol. We were all panhandlers on Uncle Sam and fighting to keep the other fellow off from having a share of his bounty. It was all wasteful, half savage. We didn't want settlement; we didn't want law; we didn't want a state. We wanted free range. We were a line of pirates from beginning to end, and we're not wholly reformed yet."

Some one at the table accused Redfield of being more of a town site boomer than a cattleman.

He was quite unmoved by this charge. "The town site boomer at least believes in progress. He does not go so far as to shut out settlement. I don't care to have my children live the life I've lived. Besides, what right have we to stand in the way of a community's growth? Suppose the new life is less picturesque than the old. We don't like to leave behind us the pleasures and sorrows of boyhood, but we grow up nevertheless. I'm far more loyal to the state as forest supervisor than I was when I was riding with the cattlemen to scare up the nestor."

At this moment Sam Gregg entered the room, followed by a young man in an English riding suit. Seeing that "the star boarder table" offered a couple of seats, they pointed that way. Sam was plainly in a warlike frame of mind and slammed his sombrero on its nail with the action of a man beating an adversary.

"That's Sam Gregg and his son Joe. Used to be ranch cattlemen, now one of our biggest sheepmen," Cavanagh explained. "He's bucking the cattlemen now."

Leo Virginia studied young Gregg with interest, for his dress was that of a man to whom money came easy, and his face was handsome, though rather fat and sullen. In truth, he had been brought into the room by his father to see "Lize Wetherford's girl," and his eyes at once sought and found her. A look of surprise and pleasure at once lit his face.

Gregg was the greedy west checked and restrained by the law. Every man in the room knew that he was a bitter opponent of the forest service and that he "had it in" for the ranger, and some of them knew that he was throwing more sheep into the forest than his permits allowed and that a clash with Redfield was sure to come. It was just like the hurly old Irishman to go straight to the table where his adversary sat.

Virginia's eyes fell before the gaze of these two men, for they had none of the shyness and none of the indifference of the ruder men she had met.

Redfield did not soften his words on Gregg's account. On the contrary, he made them still more cutting and to the line.

"The mere fact that I live near the open range or a national forest does not give me any rights in the range or forest," he was saying as Gregg took his seat. "I enjoy the privilege of these government grazing grounds, and I ought to be perfectly willing to pay the fee. These forests are the property of the whole nation. They are public lands and should yield a revenue to the whole nation. It is silly to expect the government to go on enriching a few of us stockmen at the expense of others. I see this, and I accept the change."

"After you've got rich at it," said Gregg.

"Well, haven't you?" retorted Redfield. "Are you so greedy that nothing will stop you?"

Gregg growled out: "I'm not letting any of my rights slip. I'll have your head, Mr. Supervisor. I'll carry my fight to the secretary."

"Very well," returned Redfield, "carry it to the president if you wish. I simply repeat that your sheep must correspond to your permit, and if you don't send up and remove the extra number I will do it myself. I don't make the rules of the department. My job is to carry them out."

By this time every person in the room was tense with interest. They all knew Gregg and his imperious methods. Some of the cattlemen in the room had suffered from his greed, and while they were not partisans of the supervisor, they were glad to see him face his opponent fearlessly.

A Valuable Suggestion

Information of Importance to Everyone

A great deal of pain and suffering might be avoided if we had some knowledge of physiology and the care of the body, particularly those parts that do the most work and should always be kept strong and healthy.

In an interview with a prominent physician he states that people should pay more attention to their kidneys as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, inability to hold urine, smarting or burning, bricked-out or sediment, slow or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-root by mail absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Highland, N. Y., and mention the Janesville Daily Gazette.

Daily Science Talk

By FREDERIC CAMPBELL, President Department of Astronomy, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

BIG AND LITTLE EATERS.

From abnormal eating to eating nothing is a long stretch. Somewhere between these two extremes a man will usually find himself. But most people are to some extent abnormal in their eating and at the same time abstemious touching wholesome things that they need.

Dr. W. Soltau Fenwick recently delivered an address at the Institute of Hygiene in London, listened to by doctors, nurses and expert dietitians, in which he spoke of various devices once resorted to by the ancients to stimulate appetite, such as drinking spiced wines, dropping cold metal down the back, scratching the lobe of the right ear and indulging in a "sotto" between courses.

Speaking of overeating, the doctor told of a little girl who in one day consumed a raw codfish and several pounds of candles and butter and of a boy who ate 100 pounds of raw meat in a day and another who ate his clothes. Some have a special aversion for salt, white pencils, chalk and vinegar, and people have lived after eating beetles, frogs, snakes, salamanders and leeches.

On the other hand, while some people thrive on very light eating, we are obliged to turn to the animal world for examples of abstention from food for any long continued time. Animals that hibernate eat little or nothing during their long sleep in the winter season. In the zoological garden in Regent's park, London, most visitors overlook the blind pout brought from caves in Austria, which are never seen to feed and are known to go five years without food or drink.

The horned toad, which is really a species of lizard and is common in the western states, can live for months without food or drink.

TAFT MAKES PLEA FOR RECIPROCITY

Quotes From McKinley's Last Public Utterance.

BUFFALO SPEECH IS CITED

Chief Executive Lauds Martyr's Trade Expansion Policy and Pays Him High Tribute at Birthday Banquet.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The last public utterances of President McKinley in favor of reciprocity, made the day before he was assassinated at Buffalo, were recalled by President Taft in an address at the Ohio society's anniversary banquet in commemoration of the McKinley birthday.

Many men associated with President McKinley in public office and a number of prominent Ohioans were present. Justice Day, Secretary Knox, Secretary Wilson, former Vice-President Fairbanks and Senator Dick of Ohio were among the speakers.

McKinley's Stand Cited. President Taft outlined the character of the martyred president and paid a high tribute to his attitude on the commercial expansion of the country, with particular reference to the declarations in favor of reciprocity generally made by President McKinley at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo.

"The broadening effect of the national responsibility McKinley had had to carry," said President Taft, "shows itself in no respect more conspicuously than in this change of view on his part in respect of a policy of which he had always been the chief exponent."

Urges Broad Policy. "May we not hope that the change that he advocated may soon find expression in our national policy toward our good neighbor on the north who has come half way to meet us? May the fragrance of his beloved memory lead those upon whom is the responsibility, and incline their minds and hearts to this end."

"The Canadian agreement, if confirmed by legislative action, will be a fitting close to a century's controversy and will permanently establish good feeling and commercial union between kindred peoples. We shall find in rapidly increasing market for our numerous products among the people of our neighbor. We shall deepen and widen the sources of our food supply in territory close at hand."

Kinship Good Reason. "Our kinship, our common sympathies, our similar moral and social ideas furnish the strongest reason for supporting this agreement."

"Canada is our neighbor for 3,000 miles. We have not always acted toward her in a manner most conciliatory or with due regard to her sensibilities. She has become a great country—indeed, a nation. She causes us to use no force or battle ships. She does not attack us and never will. "She extends the brotherly hand of friendship and proposes closer relations with mutual benefits. Ought we to decline? The last words of McKinley urge acceptance."

"I am proud to be a son of Ohio to bring forward for approval and effective action a measure carrying the policy which he proclaimed and made his own at the acme of his great career."

THEATER

Sarah Padden who portrays the part of Annie Jeffries in Henry B. Harris' production of Charles Klein's play, "The Third Degree," which comes to Myers Theatre on Friday, Feb. 7, visited the village of Oberammergau last summer and was an ardent witness to the fact that while the men in the play are excellent actors, the women would hardly do, even in small parts in this country. "Their gestures are all right in some instances," says Miss Padden, "but most of the time they overact; but the men are so natural you forget the women's weakness in their parts."

MANY CHANGES ARE PROPOSED IN LAWS

That the 1909 Legislative Committee Have Decided Upon in Their Report.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Jan. 31.—Segregation of savings deposits and other bills are recommended by the special committee on banking of the 1909 legislature. The bills were offered in the senate and assembly this morning by Senator W. C. Owen and Assemblyman C. A. Crowell, the respective chairs of the committee for each house.

The bill providing for segregation of savings deposits requires that banks operating under the laws of the state shall be segregated from the other deposits in such banks, and that these deposits so separated shall be invested for the sole and exclusive benefit of the savings depositors. The assets of the savings department under segregation at all times held separate and apart from the assets of the bank in time of trouble or liquidation are held for the exclusive repayment of the savings depositors, and the savings depositor is given a first lien upon the assets of this department.

On the day the report of the special committee was filed, Jan. 17, 1909, there was on deposit in these state banks in savings departments the enormous sum of $21,170,634, or approximately 25 per cent of the entire deposits in the state banks. The protection to such depositor under the present system is considerably less than that of any depositor in any other department. It is the prevailing custom to accept these savings deposits and evidence all the transactions between the depositor and the bank by means of a pass book, in which deposits and withdrawals are entered by the bank official. These pass books contain a provision usually requiring 60 or 90 days' notice before withdrawal can be made. Without segregation in case of trouble, the natural consequence is to require notice from the savings depositor and to pay out the funds of the bank to depositors whose accounts are payable on demand, thus depleting the tangible assets of the bank. When the true limitation of the savings depositors has expired, when their claims are due and payable, there will be little or nothing left in the bank with which to meet their demands. Thus the wage-earner and person of small means is not now receiving the same protection that is afforded the individual depositor who deposits his money subject to check or demand certificate.

The next bill strikes out from the mutual savings bank law the provision which allows any part of the assets of mutual savings banks to be loaned on personal security. The next bill makes it obligatory upon all boards of directors to meet at least once a month and go over the assets of the bank. In the discussion of this bill the report of the committee calls attention to the fact that many bank failures are caused by what is commonly known as "one-man banks," and it is to avoid this danger that this bill is introduced.

Changes of banks are pointed out as one of the evils of the banking business and are discouraged by the provisions of another bill. It has been the custom in other states for adventurers to start or buy a bank and use the certificates of stock of this bank as collateral for a loan with which to start or purchase another bank, repeating the process indefinitely. This bill prohibits the loaning of money on the capital stock of its own bank, and limits to 10 per cent the amount that may be loaned on the capital stock of any other bank.

Another bill prohibits loans on real estate securities except in Wisconsin and states, immediately adjoining, another bill refers to bookkeeping, providing that all books of original entry shall be bound volumes, and prohibits the use of card systems in banks.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New Glarus, Jan. 31.—Master Rudy Langacher, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Langacher, who met with a serious accident last July, is able to be up again. Master Langacher met with an accident that might have been fatal. While playing with matches in a room upstairs his clothes caught fire, which burnt the skin and flesh about his face, neck and body. In some places to the bones. Dr. Blumer thought to the boy until he was strong enough to be taken to the sanitarium at Freeport, where skin was grafted to a large extent.

At first it was thought he would not recover. Doctors of the sanitarium said that this was the first case in history of this nature with so much skin grafting which proved successful. Master Langacher was brought home last Thursday evening by his parents and is glad to be around his friends and playmates.

Dear Sir: Am visiting "The Appeal to Reason." A wonderful plant in a town of 3,000. Everybody loves Fred Warren as a man and he surely is a blessing to Glard, but I guess these socialists "make copy" of anything going their way as Mr. Warren has not come to jail nor is not likely to, one thousand reports to the contrary; even "Physical Culture" says so. "The Alton Steel" of $52,000,000 was used to improve the Alton as I found true, a year ago last fall when I walked over the system to find the facts of that statement. Five hundred thousand copies of "The Appeal" is surely making a mass of things, but I somehow think this allying out of lies is a dangerous move as one can often start what he can neither direct or stop.

Do not find the "appeal help" any better off than any other workers. Weather fine. Farmers plowing. Wheat looks good. Roads smooth and dusty. Too warm for comfort. Weather is just across line in Missouri. About equal when it comes to false lies.

Respectfully,
Z. O. BOWEN.
